Shows Strain of Trial

SECOND DAY IN COURT

Tedious Work of Drawing a Jury in the Trial of Young Scion of Wealth Charged With Murdering Stanford White Continues.

New York, Jan. 24.—Despite a rigidly enforced order admitting only talesemen, reporters and a vast crowd of onlookers gathered this morning before the trial of the young scion of wealth charged with murdering Stanford White. The trial resumed this morning with the jury being drawn. The wife of the accused, Mrs. Thaw, was seen in the courtroom, looking pale and nervous. She was accompanied by her husband, who appeared in the courtroom for the first time since the trial began. The judge, Judge C. W. Smith, presided over the proceedings. The trial is expected to continue for several more days.

The prisoner entered, clad in a dark blue serge suit, carrying a derby hat. His wife smiled a kindly greeting, but his sister merely nodded. Edward Thaw joined the family late, but up to 11 o'clock neither Mrs. Thaw, nor the Countess of Yarmouth had appeared. Joseph C. Thaw, eldest son of the family, joined the party in court for the first time today.

The examination of the talesemen proceeded tediously with the usual questions about "previous opinions" and "the unwritten law." Thaw seemed more at ease today. He talked frequently with his counsel and displayed interest in the newspaper men and artists.

The two jurors drawn yesterday, who were turned over to a bailiff who will have them in charge until the end of the trial, were Deming B. Smith, a retired manufacturer of umbrellas, and Charles H. Fecke, an employing teamster. Both are married and have families. Smith is about 55 years of age and Fecke 45.

The defendant's counsel seemed perfectly willing to accept any taleseman who satisfactorily answered the questions put by District Attorney Jerome, who personally conducted the examinations. The defense peremptorily challenged two talesemen, however, who are architects.

Mr. Jerome asked each taleseman in turn if he would be influenced by any so-called higher or unwritten law to the exclusion of the laws of the state as they would be laid down by Justice Fitzgerald. None said he would not accept the court's ruling as to all questions of law, whether he agreed with the law or not.

As to the question of insanity as an excuse for crime, Mr. Jerome explained to each taleseman that the law excuses only those persons who are laboring under defective reasoning as to not to know the nature of the act committed, or even that the act is wrong.

Again the talesemen said in turn that they would be guided solely by the court. Thaw's counsel entered objections only to certain forms of questions put by Mr. Jerome, but they were overruled. He declared they had no objections to the questions in principle.

Every taleseman examined said he had formed or expressed an opinion in the case, but each admitted that his opinion was based on newspaper reports and that he had no recollection as to make his opinion susceptible of a change by the actual evidence.

RENEWED QUAKES

noon But No One Was Injured —Great Alarm Felt.

STUDENT SHOT HIMSELF.

Registered in Grand Union Hotel Just Before Committing Suicide.

New York, Jan. 24.—Within fifteen minutes after he had registered at the Grand Union hotel, Lathrop Smith, a student in the law school at Columbia university, from Kansas City committed suicide last night by shooting himself through the head.

No cause for the suicide can be learned. His fellow students are unable to account for his act. A message, apparently written just before he fired the fatal shot, reads:

"Mother and all the loved ones—
Good bye, Mother, Good bye."

Member of Prominent Family.
Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 24.—Lathrop Smith, who committed suicide in a hotel in New York yesterday, was a member of one of the most prominent families in this city and was a well known leader in exclusive circles here. He was a nephew of Gardner Lathrop, general solicitor of the Santa Fe railroad, with headquarters in Chicago, and a son of W. Medill Smith, general claim agent of the Santa Fe. Young Smith was attending Columbia university in New York and his relatives here knew of no reason which might cause him to take his own life.

RAILROAD WAR
OVER FREE PASSESOfficers of Brattleboro and Whitehall Railroad Demand Privilege From Central Vermont R. R.

Brattleboro, Jan. 24.—A demand has been made upon the Central Vermont railway company by J. L. Martin, clerk of the Brattleboro & Whitehall railroad company, to furnish passes to the officers of the Brattleboro & Whitehall company, according to an agreement of Feb. 9, 1905, but thus far the Central Vermont company has refused to furnish the passes, basing its action upon the state law forbidding a railroad company to give directly or indirectly a "free ticket or free pass or free transportation to a person."

Strained relations have existed between the two companies for a long time, and the officers of the Brattleboro & Whitehall company think they see in their failure to receive the passes an effort to stamp their company out of existence. The Brattleboro & Whitehall company formerly owned a narrow gauge railroad running from Brattleboro to South Londonderry, a distance of 30 miles. It was mortgaged to the Central Vermont Northern road, and was operated by the latter company under lease.

Before Feb. 9, 1905, the Brattleboro & Whitehall company sought to have its lease cancelled, claiming that the conditions had been violated. The New London company retaliated by bringing a bill for the foreclosure of its mortgage.

On the date mentioned an agreement was reached, the Brattleboro & Whitehall company consenting to a foreclosure on condition of the payment to it of $5,000 of the first mortgage bonds of the Central Vermont company, the income to perpetuate the organization of the Brattleboro & Whitehall company also on condition that its officers be given annual passes over the Brattleboro & Whitehall road and that the stockholders be entitled to transportation to and from their annual meetings in Brattleboro.

Officers of the Brattleboro & Whitehall company states that unless the passes are issued soon he will bring a petition to have the decree of foreclosure opened by the U. S. district court.

DISCLAIM KNOWLEDGE OF THE ACCIDENTUnited States Naval Authorities Say That They Know Nothing of Connecticut's Running on a Reef.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Jan. 24.—There is no confirmation of yesterday's report that the battleship Connecticut had run upon a reef while entering the harbor at Culebra Island on January 13. The vessel was said to have received serious damage. The naval authorities here disclaim knowledge of the accident.

AWARDED $2,000 VERDICT.

Boston & Maine Engines Set Fire to a Powell House.

Bennington, Jan. 24.—Dr. Benjamin C. Barber was awarded a verdict in Bennington county court yesterday afternoon of $2,000 and costs of prosecution against the Boston & Maine railroad company for the destruction of the plaintiff's house and personal property in Powell.

The plaintiff claimed that the house was set on fire by sparks from locomotives. The case has been on trial since January 13. O. M. Barber appeared for the plaintiff and George A. Weston of Bellows Falls and J. K. Batchelder of Arlington for the defendant.

The breach of promise suit brought by Miss Caroline M. Peterson against H. C. Lindoff, president of the Bennington Knitting Co., has been discontinued. The plaintiff accompanied by an interpreter arrived here from New York Saturday and the case was to have been tried in county court this week.

Both parties to the suit are natives of Denmark and the correspondence which was to have been used as evidence by the plaintiff was in Danish language. This forenoon the attorneys for both parties had a conference and when convened in the afternoon it was announced that the case had been withdrawn.

Lindoff has continually asserted that the case was one of blackmail and yesterday he said that the woman was married and had served a term on Blackwell's island for disorderly conduct. Her release of the suit is signed with two names, Caroline C. Peterson and Mrs. H. M. Hines. The terms of the agreement also include the giving up of certain letters by the plaintiff.

Massachusetts State Hospital for Inebriates Today.

Boston, Jan. 24.—Sensational charges against the state hospital for inebriates at Foxboro were made today at a hearing before the governor's council. An affidavit of James A. Hicks of Charlestown declared that he had been beaten senseless for refusing to sleep in an unclean bed, that patients were encouraged to suicide, that they were exposed to contagious diseases. Hicks said he was given salamoniacs to drink for medicine and was nearly poisoned. The attendants said: "You can't kill the cuss, anyway."

A STATESMAN
AND SOLDIERSenator Russell A. Alger Died
Suddenly To-day

IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

Michigan Senator Had Had a Long and Honorable Record in Both Civil and Military Branches of Government.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Senator Russell A. Alger of Michigan died at nine o'clock this morning from heart trouble which had long been afflicting him.

Russell Alexander Alger was born in Lafayette, Medina county, Ohio, on February 27, 1836, and was therefore nearly 71 years of age. His parents died when he was 11 years old and for seven years thereafter he labored on a farm, meanwhile attending the Richmond academy in Summit county, Ohio. He studied law in Akron, Ohio, and was admitted to the bar of that state in 1859. That same year he removed to Grand Rapids, Mich.

In 1861 he enlisted in the army and became captain of a company of Michigan cavalry. In 1862 he became major of the regiment, and that same year was appointed lieutenant-colonel of the Sixth Michigan Cavalry. The year following he was chosen as colonel of the Fifth Michigan. He was successively brevetted brigadier-general and major-general. During the civil war Senator Alger participated in 66 battles and skirmishes. In 1880 he was elected commander of the Grand Army.

As a Republican he was elected governor of Michigan in 1884 and two years later declined a renomination at the hands of his party. In March, 1897, he was appointed secretary of war by President McKinley, a position which he resigned two years later. He became a senator in the fall of 1903, having been appointed by the governor of Michigan to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James McMillan. He has since been in the Senate, having been elected by the Michigan legislature in 1903.

STEVENS MAY GET SHORTS' POSITIONLatter Has Resigned as Head of Panama Canal Commission, as Announced Yesterday.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—The generally accepted belief in official circles is that John F. Stevens, chief engineer of the Panama Canal, will be appointed head of the commission to succeed Theodore Shonts. If he is appointed the two jobs probably will be consolidated.

The resignation of Mr. Shonts was announced at the White House yesterday. It was tendered to the president and accepted by him Tuesday, according to the correspondence made public. Mr. Shonts was elected yesterday president of the Interborough-Metropolitan company which controls the rapid transit and many surface lines in New York. No announcement was made as to who will succeed him as chairman of the commission, but it was learned authoritatively that headquarters will be removed from Washington to the isthmus and that a high salaried chairman to serve in that capacity alone will not be named.

Mr. Shonts' retirement does not come wholly as a surprise. He had been persistently rumored that some action was taken upon the proposition to build the canal by contract, he would sever his connection with the canal project and resume a calling more congenial to his taste. Secretary Taft confirmed that rumor yesterday by saying that Mr. Shonts' resignation was voluntarily, which is borne out by the President's letter in accepting it.

A SCORE INJURED.

Two Trolley Cars Collide in New York City—Passengers in Panic.

New York, Jan. 24.—A Jerome avenue trolley car, which got beyond control and rushed down hill at great speed, crowded with passengers, collided with a Yonkers car late last night. A score of passengers were injured and there was a panic. Several women were trampled upon by men.

Every window in both cars was shattered. The flying glass cut the passengers. Motorman Eller was hurled through the glass window shield of his car and had several ribs broken. Motorman Donovan of the runaway was thrown over the front platform of his car and landed on the rear platform of the other. He was internally injured. Two passengers suffered internal injuries and were removed to a hospital. The others injured were treated by ambulance surgeons.

WHEEL FLANGE BROKE.

Engine Left the Rails, But the Train Remained.

Greenfield, Mass., Jan. 24.—A broken flange of a wheel of the locomotive pulling the westbound passenger express train, which left Boston at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine railroad, caused the engine to leap the track just as it went over the bridge over the Deerfield river here early last night. The engine plowed along on the sleepers and over the bridge for probably 200 feet, but fortunately the wheels of the passenger coaches remained on the iron.

When it left the rails, the engine was running slowly, it would surely have gone off the bridge into the river, forty feet below.

VERMONT MAN AN OFFICER.

E. H. Noyce of St. Johnsbury With Chiefs of Police.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 24.—The New England association of Police Chiefs held its annual session here yesterday and elected the following officers: president, D. H. Stebbins, Springfield; vice president, J. C. Brown, Bangor, Me.; E. H. Noyce, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; S. C. Wheeler, Vineland, N. J.; C. Crowley, Newport, R. I.; secretary and treasurer, J. M. Guay, Leominster, N. H.

STOLE TO CLOTHE HIMSELF.

Took Only a Pair of Shoes to Replace
His Own Worn Pair.

Woodstock, Jan. 24.—Windsor county court was occupied yesterday with the hearing of divorce cases. Several similar cases were heard yesterday and two decisions announced. In the case of Harley J. Currier, a divorce was granted on the grounds of desertion. A divorce was also granted for intolerable severity in the case of Lena E. Flanders, of Bridgewater, vs. Frank Flanders.

The case of State vs. Andrew Blanchard, committed to jail September 11, 1906, on a charge of breach of the peace, was nolle prossed. Joseph Mayotte, about 21 years old, recently arrested just over the state line in New York, on a charge of breaking into the Hartland railway station Wednesday night, pleaded guilty and was held pending an investigation by the probation officer. It appears that the respondent, whose shoes were worn so that his feet were not protected, stole a pair of shoes but took nothing else from the station.

Hydenville Men Who Broke Into Hotel
Go to House of Correction.

Rutland, Jan. 24.—William Hall and John Blackmore, of Hydenville, were sentenced to the house of correction yesterday to serve not less than six months or less than two years for grand larceny. Three weeks ago the two broke into the Glenwood hotel at Lake Bomoseen and took cigars, souveners and bedding. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff John H. Polly at Fair Haven Tuesday.

RUTLAND REDUCES
DEPT $16,868.10Good Showing Made as Shown by Mayor Paige's Message Given Yesterday.

Rutland, Jan. 24.—The city of Rutland had a balance of $16,868.10 in the treasury at the end of 1906 and the total indebtedness was decreased $13,073.15 during the 12 months, according to an annual report of Mayor Charles E. Paige made public yesterday. It is the lowest balance in the city's history. The report shows the best financial record in the history of the city, and this in the face of the big fire which cut down the appraisal of real estate for the year and made a heavy expense in building sewers.

The reduction of the indebtedness was in $9,000 paid into the sinking fund, $500 in a special water department appropriation and $3,573.15 earned by interest on the sinking fund. The city now has bonds outstanding amounting to $207,000, and a United States deposit fund of $29,015.85, making a total debt of $237,984.15. Against this there is a sinking fund of $116,494.78.

The Rutland men will compete both in the two-men team matches and singles. There were $20,000 distributed in prizes at the matches.

Downer, in comfortable circumstances and resides in Worcester, Mass., with her husband, Charles Sibley, to whom she was married about eighteen years ago. SUFFERING FROM COLDThe Most Frigid Weather For Five Years

HAS SWEEPED NEW ENGLAND

Barre Thermometers Registered 36 Degrees Below Zero This Morning
—Two People Froze to Death in New York.

All New England and New York were swept last night with Jack Frost's magic wand, and the result was this morning the coldest weather of the winter and in fact the coldest for several years. Suffering humanity may take heart, however, in the prediction that the spell will be broken tonight and that a snow storm will be the next thing in the order of events.

The temperature in Barre ranged from 30 to 36 degrees below zero, although one or two thermometers said 28; there were spirit tubes, not mercury. Dr. O. H. Reed's spirit indicator went as low as 35, a point seldom reached, although this instrument in the year 1880 got so low down as to indicate 51 degrees below. Another thermometer on Prospect street was also 38 at an early hour. On French street it was 36 below.

In East Montpelier, where temperatures run low, one tube at the farm of Philbrook Batchelder marked 35, while one at Elmer Howland's said 35 and at A. G. Whitehead's 34. In Williams town 36 is reported, while a South Barre man came to the city today and reported 42 in his village. An even lower temperature is reported from East Barre, 46, but this has not been confirmed. In consequence of the extreme frigid-ity there was little business done in the granite plants and on the quarries, while merchants had plenty of chance to complete inventories and make changes in their stock. Few ventures out who could remain inside. The sight of a funeral procession passing through Main street with the horses almost in a gallop was an indication of the bitterness of Jack Frost's visitation.

COLDEST FOR FIVE YEARS

Boston, Jan. 24.—There was the coldest weather here this morning since 1902. The mercury reached seven below zero, which is within six degrees of the record. There was intense cold all over New England. It was 35 below at Hadley Falls, Mass.

SADDEN DEATH AT SOLDIER'S HOME.

Bennington, Jan. 24.—Wallace R. Baldwin, an inmate of the Vermont soldiers' home for the past fifteen years, was found dead of heart failure yesterday morning. He was 65 years old, a native of Brandon, and second lieutenant in company I, 5th Vermont volunteers, during the civil war.MYSTERIOUS FIRE,
BUT LITTLE LOSSVolunteer Fire Fighters Worked Valiantly This Morning and Saved the House of Flora Batchelder in Barre Town.

Neighbors worked in the intense cold of the early morning hours today and saved the house of Flora Batchelder in the town of Barre from destruction by fire and kept the loss down to a comparatively small figure, chiefly due to the quick action of the fire fighters, Mr. Sabin, who works on the Batchelder farm, was badly nipped by the frost as he stood by a tub and dipped out the water to be thrown on the flames. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Ralph Batchelder, a young boy and a member of the household, was first awakened by the fire at three o'clock. He at once notified the other people in the house and in turn the neighbors were summoned by use of the telephone. In a short time a large number of men had gathered from the main roads to East Montpelier and Plainfield, and others from as far away as those villages. They soon exhausted the supply of water on the Batchelder farm and then teams were dispatched to the Pike farm a quarter-mile away to replenish the supply. By this energetic work, the flames were subdued and the remainder of the forty cords of wood in the shed was thrown out. So well did the volunteer fire fighters work that they kept the flames from damaging the house except for charring the end next to the woodshed.

Those who were first on the scene report that there seemed to be two fires, one in each end of the shed, and how they could have caught has not been explained. There were no ashes in the shed. So far as known, the members of the household have no enemies, who would thus attempt to work out their spite. There is a small insurance on the property.

THAT ARMLESS SLEEVE.

Cause For Outburst of Patriotism, Was Bitten Off By a Stallion.

The eloquence of Harry St. George Tucker which caused the Vermont legislature to appropriate the sum of $10,000 for a Vermont exhibit at the James Smith building in New York, has been shattered by a horse named "The Armless Sleeve," which is owned by the Concord, N. H., Monitor, as follows:

"Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, whose eloquence delighted our legislators last week, had an amusing incident in his trip to Vermont when the Green mountain legislature was in session.
As we have occasion to know, Dr.
Tucker is a fluent orator, and he worked the Vermonters up to a high pitch of enthusiasm by his eloquence. Conspicuous in the audience was a legislator, past middle age with one arm. Upon a wall of the hall in which he spoke was a large picture representing Sheridan's ride in the Shenandoah valley. President Tucker spoke feelingly of the Civil War. He was born within a few miles of Winchester, he told his hearers, and was familiar with the scene represented in the Sheridan picture. He dared say that the Vermonters, with one arm was also familiar with them, and that the missing arm was now resting in the hallowed soil of the Old Dominion. A great outburst of applause greeted this eloquent reference to the armless sleeve. President Tucker was certain that he had made a decided hit.
When he had concluded his speech, a member of the legislature approached him and said:

"We are going to make an appropriation for your exposition, all right, but I thought I would tell you before you made another speech about that one-armed man, that his arm was bitten off by a stallion, and that he was not in the war at all."

RETURNS TO BARRRE.

John Campbell to Be Associated With His Brother, J. B.

John Campbell, who formerly conducted a granite business in Barre, has returned to assume the general management of the manufacturing end of the United States Granite and Construction company. Since leaving Barre Mr. Campbell has been running a business at Ballston, N. Y. There were three sons of his firm in that place, but they have been consolidated and are running under the firm name of Campbell Bros., with Amasa Campbell, one of the brothers, now acting as manager. A third brother, James B. who has been at the head of the concern in introducing the company, will remain and will share the management with John Campbell.

WAS A FORMER BARRRE BOY.

George DeCamp, a member of Chamberlain Post, No. 1, died at the home of Fred W. Thomas in Paddock's village, January 15, aged 73. Mr. DeCamp went to St. Johnsbury from Barre when a boy and went to live in the family of Gardner Wheeler at Four Corners. There he remained until the Civil War broke out, when he enlisted in Company G, 3d Vt. Regiment, for three years' service.
On his return from the war he went back to his former home, until Mr.
Wheeler's death and that of his son.
He then entered the family of Mrs.
Mary Wheeler Miles, where he lived for twenty years, or until his death. Mr.
DeCamp was a man of simple life, honest, industrious and kind. All who knew him honored and respected him.
He was justly proud of his part in the great war, and received much pleasure in the company of old soldiers. He had no family, but shared fully the comforts of the home of Mr. Wheeler and later that of his daughter, and was tenderly cared for in many times of sickness. His funeral was held Thursday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. A. Francis Welch. A delegation from Chamberlain Post was present.
